

Another Happy Day Will Come

Posted by Yorkvillia.ca on Aug 9 2012 in Events, Front Page.

Quite often we hear about massive fundraising events that invite you to dig deep in your pockets to find that extra change to give away, not to mention about the abundance of mailings around Thanksgiving, Christmas or Easter asking you to consider paying for those well-known mailing labels made "just for you" or send a cheque to different organizations just because you care, as a good citizen.

Well, this time it will be different. A reputable foundation teaming up with an honest, high quality healthcare clinic did not attach their event to any public holiday or emotional celebration. The Hospital for Sick Kids Foundation and Physio at Don Mills chose September 22nd 2012 for their public event and made things simple: it is beginning of the school year, all kids have a backpack and they often complain that's too heavy and their back hurts. Is there anything you can do about it? What kind of backpack to choose for your child? How heavy it should really be? Here is how the idea of a "Backpack Clinic" came up.

The organizer, Physiotherapy at Don Mills (chiropractors, kinesiologists and physiotherapists), will answer your questions, teach you what features to look for when buying a backpack and assess your children for a correct posture – and all it's for FREE. If you wish to donate anything for their efforts, all proceedings will go to the Hospital for Sick Kids Foundation. More than that, the organizing company will match your donation 100%.

We say it could turn extraordinary. They promise that it will be fun and educational. And considering the amazing success of the Health Fair organized this summer by the same company at the Shops at Don Mills, we can assure everybody that there will be no regret participating. At least for the stylish location and elegant shopping centre at the Shops and for the substantial raffle prizes donated by Salomon Canada, MEXX Kids and of course, Yorkvillia.
